Intellectual Property (with specialization in Patent Law and Design Law)

Jointly organised by Ankara University,
World Intellectual Property Organization and the Turkish Patent and Trademark Office

About the programme

Mind your creativity!

Are you developing software for personal computers or smart phones? Are you a composer, a painter, an author, or an industrial designer? Are you working in an academic environment or in R&D, journalism, or publication industries? Have you recently developed an idea that you think nobody has thought about before? Are you interested in obtaining in-depth knowledge about the rights of a creative and innovative person?

Then, this programme is tailored for you!

Following the first-ever graduate programme on intellectual property rights in Turkey, MSc on Intellectual Property Rights, Technology Policies, and Innovation Management, Ankara University is now offering a new graduate degree on intellectual property. Jointly organised by the World Intellectual Property Organisation (WIPO) and the Turkish Patent and Trademark Office (TurkPatent), Ankara University's LLM in Intellectual Property (with specialization in Patent Law and Design Law) aims at reaching out to candidates who would like to critically examine the rights and duties of authors working in the creative industries.

The interdisciplinary courses at Ankara University's LLM in Intellectual Property programme are conducted in English and are particularly designed for graduates of the faculties of economics, business management, humanities, sciences, engineering, and law.
