

Background

Organizing institutions

University of Turin-Department of Law

The University of Turin was founded in 1404. Today, the University has a faculty of 1,300 professors, about 800 researchers, and 70,000 students. More than 20 years ago it launched a cluster of nine international Masters programmes jointly organized with the International Training Center of the International Labour Organization (ITC/ILO), including this Master of Laws Programme in Intellectual Property (LL.M.).

WIPO Academy

The World Intellectual Property Organization (WIPO) is a global forum for intellectual property services, policy, information and cooperation. It is a self-funding, specialized agency of the United Nations based in Geneva. It is dedicated to lead the development of a balanced and effective international intellectual property (IP) system that enables innovation and creativity for the benefit of all. WIPO administers 26 international treaties and has 188 member states.

The WIPO Academy is a division of WIPO established in 1998. It plays a central role in WIPO's activities to enhance the capacity of countries to use the IP system by employing an interdisciplinary approach to IP education focusing on its links with trade, innovation, health, applied sciences, information technology and creative industries. Since 1998, more than 380,000 students have participated in WIPO Academy Programmes namely, Professional Development, Distance Learning, Academic Institutions and Executive Programmes. It responds to a wide spectrum of demand for IP education like degree programmes, custom-made professional training and policy-making in IP and offers distance learning courses in Arabic, Chinese, English, French, Portuguese, Russian and Spanish.

International Training Centre of the International Labour Organization

The International Training Centre of the International Labour Organization (the Centre) is the training arm of the ILO – a United Nations Specialized Agency.

ILO was established in 1919 and aims at the promotion of social justice and internationally recognized human and labour rights. The Centre is based in Turin and is a premium provider of capacity development and training services in the field of decent work and sustainable development. In 1991, the Centre started to offer an innovative, job-focused and multi-disciplinary portfolio of Master programmes in partnership with the University of Turin. The LL.M. in IP, the LL.M. in International Trade Law, the Master in Management of Development, and the Master in Public Procurement for Sustainable Development are among the world-renowned programmes offered by the Centre.

Support and contributions for the LL.M. in Intellectual Property

The LL.M. in Intellectual Property is supported by partial funding from WIPO and a number of private entities and foundations such as the Compagnia di San Paolo and the Turin Bar Association.

Objectives

IP law is facing unprecedented challenges. Evolving issues like cloud computing and biotechnological inventions, big data and traditional knowledge raise questions related to the continuous need to define an optimal interface between law and technology. Similarly, IP law has become a crucial factor in economic, scientific and societal/moral decisions. In view of the above the LL.M. in IP currently attracts professionals from the public and private sectors as well as junior academics who wish to acquire the skills

Curriculum of the Master

required to play a leading role in the practice and teaching of IP through exposure to a well-tested international and comparative law approach. The curriculum aims to provide an in-depth examination of the classical topics of IP law as well as a specialized analysis of the latest developments in the fields of patents, trademarks, domain names, copyright and related rights, design, software and databases, integrated circuits, biotechnological patents and plant varieties, the internet and e-commerce. The diversified profile and backgrounds of the students and lecturers make the LL.M. a truly international forum for discussion and exchange of knowledge, opinions and ideas that are entrenched in various legal systems.

The LL.M. is composed of 3 different learning parts delivered over a 9 month period from June 2016 to February 2017. For information on the curriculum and a list of professors we invite you to visit the following websites <http://www.turin-ip.com> and <http://www.wipo.int/academy/en>.

Part I – Distance learning

The first phase consists of 3 WIPO modules offered through distance learning.

This initial phase is designed to provide all the participants with a preliminary and homogeneous background. The 3 distance learning modules are delivered from June to August 2016. They are based on the successfully tested “Copyright and Related Rights” (DL-201); “Patents” (DL-301); and “Trademarks, Industrial Designs and Geographical Indications” (DL-302) all designed by WIPO IP experts.

The 3 advanced modules have an online exam and a written examination during the face-to-face period.

Part II – Face-to-face

The second phase consists of the face-to-face part of the programme. It is an intensive classroom learning period delivered at the Centre’s campus in Turin from 5 September to 16 December 2016 and at WIPO headquarters in Geneva during a three nights study visit in October. It starts with an introductory review of the current IPR regime followed by economic analysis of IPR law. This phase explores IP protection both at national, regional and international levels. Lectures on the following modules are offered by professors as well as IP experts.

- Introduction to IP Law and Economics
- Patents
- Copyright and Related Rights

- Trademarks and Geographical Indications
- Industrial Designs
- Unfair Competition and Antitrust
- Domain Names
- Enforcement of IPRs
- International Aspects of IP
- Technology Transfer
- New IP Rights

A full-time tutor is assigned to the class in order to respond to participants' clarification needs and to provide remedial support to the students, as required.

Participation is based on interaction among the participants, the tutor and the professors. Class teaching will be enriched by case-study sessions as well as exercises in legal drafting. Submission of a first draft of a research paper is a requirement during this phase. Two written exams are held during this phase of the programme; the first carrying double the credit points of the second.

Part III – Preparation and submission of the research paper

This part stretches from 17 December 2016 to 28 February 2017. Each participant will be required to submit the final version of the research paper initially drafted during the face-to-face period. Submission and subsequent grading of the final research paper will conclude the programme.

Scientific material and tutorials support

Syllabus and suggested readings

Each participant will receive a detailed syllabus consisting of international and other legal instruments as well as reference reading material and a collection of cases carefully selected by the LL.M. Directors in order to cover the overall learning contents. Access to the state-of-the-art bibliography of the Turin Law School Library is provided to assist the students in their research and in preparing for the written assignments and examinations. Suggested reference materials are posted on the website of the Master's Programme at www.turin-ip.com.

Intranet

An online platform is dedicated for the participants' use in order to exchange comments on class proceedings and to facilitate deliberations with professors and the tutor. Each professor will additionally provide, via intranet, specific materials that supplement his/her lecture.

Tutors / paper advisors

Tutors will support participants in their research work and in obtaining information from relevant sources.

Participants' profile

A total of up to 40 participants (15 selected and sponsored by the WIPO Academy and the remainder by the University of Turin) will be admitted to the programme.

All applicants will be scrutinized by a joint committee headed by the University of Turin, Department of Law.

Partial scholarships may become available from private sponsors and assigned to eligible applicants from developing and transition countries on the basis of merit (academic qualifications, work experience and publications).

Annual conference

Within the context of the delivery of the Master's Programme, an international conference is organized each year exploring a topical issue. The conference usually attracts eminent specialists (professors, practitioners, members of international institutions) who debate and exchange their experiences with the students and the audience.

Alumni day

Each year, a networking event bringing together current students with the programme's Alumni is organized during the residential part of the LL.M. back-to-back with the above-mentioned Annual Conference.

The LL.M. has created a closely-knit and well-connected society of professors, practitioners and students. The students of the past LL.M. editions form part of the alumni community and may access the intranet platform of the LL.M. This platform enables students and professors to update their personal profiles, to keep in touch and share information about current developments in their IP careers.

Entry requirements

Applicants must have a bachelor's degree either in law, economics, engineering, medicine, physics, chemistry, communication sciences or business administration.

Acceptable bachelor's degree must be a minimum of 3 years in duration in a university.

Advanced knowledge of English is a prerequisite (TOEFL 80/120 or IELTS 6.5/9).
